

SOME OF THE OLD FARM BUILDINGS OF UPPER WORSHAM WHICH HAVE GONE OR PARTIALLY GONE.

This photograph was one of many taken by the Bexhill Observer in 1936 and 1913 when they did a series on farms in Bexhill. This is the Oast and Pond The pond is still there.

James Owers one of the farm labourers who, in 1913 was the oldest. He lived in Boulder Cottage in Worsham Lane. This cottage was built in 1873. More on that later.

This is a lovely photo of Raymond Spray With a loaded wagon by Upper Worsham Farm in the 1930's. Loaned by his Daughter Mrs Markwick.

This is Lester Spray, the father of Raymond Spray. They were both labourers at Upper Worsham Farm. This photo was taken in the 1930's in Whitelocks Field. This photo was loaned by Lester's granddaughter Mrs Markwick.

This picture of Lester Spray is taken sitting by the Barn with his dog 'Fanny'. He lived in one of the old farm cottages in Worsham Lane then he moved to one of the 'White Houses' in Wrestwood Road, which stood opposite the entrance to Wrestwood House.
